- June Simmons, Partners in Care Foundation
- Josh Wiener, RTI International

Interview process

- Note-taking, recording
- Confidentiality
- Semi-structured format
- Responsiveness

observations

- Comments start with ‘what’s wrong...’
- Responses pre- and post-HCR law
- AD’s identity struggle:

as one type of chronic illness

as a separate, distinct condition

Range of strategies

1. Better use of existing public dollars
2. Other federal dollars /HC reform
3. Greater personal investment
4. New private sector funding
5. Establish dedicated funding

(Ideas often overlap)

1. Better use of existing public dollars

- Integrate all AD services
- Consolidate funding streams
- Move out of FFS to managed care
- Challenge of dual-eligibles
- From high-tech to com.-based care

2. Other federal dollars /HC reform

- Centers for Innovation (CMS)
- AOA's EB programs
- Federal Coordinated Health Care Office
- Medicare: chronic illness coverage
- Many pilot programs...

3. Greater personal investment

- CLASS Act
- Pre-tax dependent account at work
- Merge personal contribution into Medicare Advantage plans
- LTC insurance/ reverse mortgages
- National income/sales tax solely for chronic care management

4. New private sector funding

- Business concerns re. presenteeism
- Large employers: hire case managers, augment EAPs
- Local corporate funding of AD programs
- Collaboration among corporate, philanthropic and community programs, incl. faith-based.

5. Establish dedicated funding

- Tax on soda, other sins
- Check-off box: IRS, DMV?
- Big Pharma/others: campaign promoting CLASS

Common themes

- Get rid of the waste and $$ are there.
- Private sector impact is limited.
- Study/emulate other states.
- Coordinated care and caregiver training.
- Calif.'s size is problematic.

(and praise for tackling this subject)

Two specific ideas

- Better use of existing public dollars

Two Medicare tracts: TLC or LST

- Greater personal investment

National tax solely for chronic care management

Next steps

- Early May: complete draft summary; circulate to interviewees to review
- June: review completed version with Task Force sub-committees
- July: present to Task Force

Comments, discussion
